

SunTrust Now Truist CFO of the Year Award

While nonprofits are busy providing needed services to their communities, one critical member of the staff makes certain that they are fiscally sound, sustainable, and in compliance with public regulations: the Chief Financial Officer. At a nonprofit this person might be a CFO, an internal accountant, a bookkeeper, or a fiscal manager. In any case, this award will be given to the staff person who has made a financial difference to his or her agency either in creatively working through a time of financial difficulty or in taking advantage of a financial opportunity.

The CFO of the Year Award will focus on how the financial manager has enabled his or her agency to continue or improve its programs through sound financial management practices. Specifically, the CFO, accountant or bookkeeper has provided excellence in these four areas:

- Being a steward for the agency by preserving its assets, minimizing risk, and making certain the books are correct;
- Serving as an operator, running a tight finance operation that is efficient and effective, and adapting the agency's financial model as necessary;
- Being a strategist, helping to shape the overall strategy and direction of the agency, including giving a financial perspective on innovation and growth; and
- Serving as a catalyst, instilling a financial approach and mind set throughout the agency to make certain that the nonprofit performs well as a whole.

An award of $5,000 will be presented to the winner and $1,000 each will be awarded to two finalists at the Center for Nonprofit Management's Salute to Excellence Awards.

Requirements for the CFO of the Year Award:

- Must be an organization that has been a 501(c)(3) for at least three years, is a member of CNM, and provides significant services to the Middle Tennessee area.
- Local chapters of national organizations may apply provided the chapters are locally managed and have financial information available on a local basis.

Previous Winners and Finalists:

- Winners and finalists of this award are not eligible to reapply for one year. (For example, if the agency was a finalist in 2017, the agency is eligible to re-apply for this award in 2019.)
